Want of variety cannot be alleged against the performances of Pollard's Liliputians, and never be made the excuse of neglect by the Hongkong public. We have been more than charmed on many occasions, while witnessing the efforts of the youngsters, and last night they charmed us more than ever, for in 'La*Mascotte* they seemed to excel all former efforts. It was a most successful performance, judged from the spectacular point of view alone, but also for singing and dancing the children were most deservedly applauded to the echo. Daphne Trot was as smart and taking as ever, try Trot as charming and successful, and Alice Pollard sang with her usual grace, good taste and expression. Every part was filled to perfection, and taking into consideration the varied nature of the characters represented from night to night, we can only find the highest praise adequate enough for this clever troupe of children. One forgets when looking on at their performances that they are children; and it is only when one reflects on this fact that the full extent of their wonderful cleverness is revealed.
Their successes, as well as their failures, and the absence of hitches at any of the performances, is a feather in the caps of the stage manager and the musical director. The season is now drawing to a close, and after 'La Mascotte' comes 'The Gaiety Girl' and then 'Pousse Cafe,' an amusing burlesque, which is supported by the management, we presume, to leave an agreeable flavour in the mouth, to remind us of the Liliputians when they are gone. Parents who wish to give their children a treat should not forget the matinee performance of 'La Mascotte' tomorrow, commencing at 3.30 p.m.CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

At the Magistracy on Wednesday, Mr.
William Pope and Mr. M. A. Martin, of the Naval Yard, were complimented by Mr.
J. H. Kemp for the assistance given them in convicting a ricksha coolie of dumping the body of a young girl in the street.
The coolie was seen laying down the body.
Messrs. Pope and Martin gave chase, captured the coolie and handed him over to Constable Cullford. The girl had died of plague. On the same morning, the body of a Chinese boy was found by an Indian constable at Kennedy Town. Inquiries were carried out by Sergeant Grant, who found that it was the body of the son of a native residing at No. 2 Kennedy Town (second floor). In the course of a statement at the Police Station, the man stated that his son died on the previous night, and he was given a dollar by each of the tenants of the flats above and below and of the adjoining houses to induce him not to report the case to the authorities. He paid $5 to another man to take the body away. The offender was brought before Mr. Hazeland at the Magistracy this morning. The case was adjourned for a week.For the Blood in the Liver.—Clark's

To fool with a bad cold. No one can tell

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
PEKING, April 16.By command of the Empress Dowager, an Imperial edict was issued acknowledging the faithful service of the late Yung Lu, and in addition to the title of Literatus and Loyalist he was made a Marquis, and the 4th and 5th rank of Kang Tong was conferred on his adopted son. It orders that his biography is to be recorded in history, and his tablet placed among the Faithful and Good.[Commenting on the death of Yung Lu, the N. O. Daily News says:—Yung Lu by means of his influence over the Empress Dowager was the virtual ruler of at least one-fourth of the human race. Yet so firmly settled is the machinery of government in China, that his death will probably be only a passing commotion at the Court, which will expend itself without affecting at all the empire outside the Court. The Empress Dowager has lost an adviser in whom she had great confidence, the Emperor has lost a powerful enemy, Yung Lu's protégés have lost a valuable patron; one European nation at least has lost a friend; but that China has lost anything by the death of Yung Lu, it would be very hard to prove. To his malign influence were mainly due the troubles of 1900; it has been a grave question whether he had any idea of making another attempt to drive out the foreigners from North China; his death at any rate has done much to decrease the probability of another such attempt being made in the near future.]GERMANY AND TURKEY.
LONDON, April 11.
The Sultan of Turkey, has conferred the highest decorations on the German Crown Prince and his brother, who are staying at Constantinople as his guests.THE COLOUR LINE IN SOUTH AFRICA.
The Transvaal Government has decided to enforce the law of the late Republic which assigned bazzars in every town in which alone Asiatics are permitted to trade, but exceptions are made in favour of educated and civilised Asiatics.THE FAMINE AT KWAIPIING.
The Traffic in Women and Children.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)
WUCHOW, April 14.The famine at Kwai-ping continues unabated. The Alliance Mission there is now spending a hundred dollars a day in feeding the famishing. A local subscription was made in Wuchow, but its funds were exhausted long since. Other subscriptions have been received from Canton, yet all inadequate. It is thought that a strong appeal must be made ere long to the generosity of Hongkong on behalf of the starving people. Mr. Hess, who has just returned from Kwai-ping, will probably shortly arrive in Hongkong; and, if asked, will no doubt give an account of the true state of affairs. It seems anomalous that whilst the authorities are so solicitous to prevent the export of cattle, the steam launches alone should be bringing down to the Kwangtung market, about a hundred women and girls daily, who must be parted with by their male relatives owing to the scarcity of food.THE BAGDAD RAILWAY.
The Directorate of the Bagdad Railway at present consists of nine Germans, seven Frenchmen, two Swiss and one Austrian.
The conditions for the participation of British capital are not yet definitely settled.

mentioned yesterday was share capital.THE SUEZ CANAL BLOCKED.

been blocking the Suez Canal since Monday. The Orizaba and Plessey are delayed in consequence.THE SUEZ CANAL BLOCK.

CONSUL AT METROVETZA.
The murderer of M. Stecherbinas, the Russian Consul at Metrovetz, who was previously sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment, has now been sentenced to death in consequence of imperative representations by Russia.THE NAVAL REVIEW AT KOBE.
Kobe, April 10.
The Emperor of Japan reviewed sixty-seven men-of-war here to-day, and it was a superb spectacle. The British men-of-war Glory and Benbow, the Russian Aspid, the Italian Calabria, the German Hansa, and the French Pascal were in the foreign line.The Emperor returned to Maiko at three p.m.
At night the fleet was brilliantly illuminated.The grand review at the conclusion of the naval manoeuvres was held on the 10th inst. at Kobe, when 28 ships and 434 torpedo craft were ranged in four lines, the fifth line being formed by seven foreign vessels whereof two were British, and one each American, French, German, Italian, and Russian. The Emperor's ship steamed slowly round, after which His Majesty gave audience to the Foreign Ministers and Naval Officers. A luncheon was then given on board the Asama and Yasuno to foreigners and Japanese, 1,300 covers being laid.The Empire, in his message, praised the obvious progress of his fleet, and declared that the condition of the nations at present depends on the development of their navies.
He urged his officers and men to renew their exertions to consummate his wishes.To the evening the Minister of Marine gave a ball at the Chamber of Commerce.
Kobe was illuminated by the foreign residents, who have always been markedly loyal.
There was a torchlight procession in which over a thousand took part.TELEGRAMS.*STRANDING OF THE
